For the price, you cant beat a good shmup' like Madrobot X, Im honestly suprised more people haven't bought this game. I like the balanced level progression when it becomes more challenging every level and I love the boss fights, they were well thought out. Extremely well worth the price. With long gameplay, high replay value for a low price, steam cards and full controller support (I used a xbox 360 controller - perfect and precise movement), it is hard not to recommend this game. If you love indies, what are you waiting for? This would make a great present for a friend too 10/10.. Very bland game! There are better flash games for free like Bullet Heaven.

Low contrast of background with the action plane (enemies,bullets and you)

Scients dialogue ocupies part of the screen... mostly the part where you will be when dodging his first attacks

Didn't find the configuration to play with keyboard or adjust the mouse/controller controls and sensivity, didn't find fullscreen button too.

Very bland normal enemies patterns... you will get bored already in level 3 (of 12). 75 cents to return to my Galaga glory days? Had I found this game where it rightfully belongs - in the arcade of my childhood - I would have plopped in far more than 3 quarters. Great game!. This is a great game with a great price. If you enjoy vertical shooter you're going to enjoy Madrobot X.

There are 12 stages in total, 2 difficulties (Normal and Nightmare), and a "Challenge mode.

There is plenty of content to justify the pricetag and keep you drawn in for a few hours. Two strong feature the developers executed perfectly are the controls and the hitboxes. Many shooters I see released on Steam have some serious control or hitbox problems making gameplay a mess. Madrobot X feels solid and makes dodging bullets a natural reaction rather than a chore. The pixel graphics are clean and bullets are easy to see.

The only flaw I see is the variety of enemies the game has. As the stages progress you will see many reused enemies making several stages feel like the previous. This is a small complaint and has no impact on the overall game.

I hope to see achievements and leaderboards added in the future.. This is quite possibly the worst game I've ever played on Steam. I could make this in Clickteam Fusion in about an hour. That's not a humblebrag- it's a testament to how rudimentary this game is. I can't tell if the controls or mechanics are at fault, but this game's only diffulty is in how hard it is to move as intended. I didn't expect much from that price tag, but I expected more from a greenlit item.
